Resource List

Within the Saskatchewan Music Festival Association (SMFA) website

(<https://smfa.ca/workshops/>) under Programs and Services you will find the following:

- The complete Speech Arts and Drama Resource Manual which contains poems, prose, scenes from modern plays and Shakespeare plays, for every age group, organized by age level
- Speech Arts & Sask. Music Festival brochure with a lot of what you heard today but more
- Speech Arts Resource 2015 which has EVEN MORE helpful information including a listing of Saskatchewan poetry and a great deal of information about the voice used in speaking
- Spoken Word Information for Schools which relates speech arts in festival to the Saskatchewan Education curriculum, outlining how effectively one serves the other

Links to more information:

The link of the Saskatchewan Music Festival Association (smfa.ca) where you will find:

- the current syllabus with rules and regulations
- A listing of festivals you can enter so you can find the information about the one near you
- Everything else SMFA

Royal Conservatory of Music

This is the website for the Royal Conservatory of Music (rcmusic.ca), not an easy website to travel through so go directly to the syllabus link: RCM Syllabus

That link is for the Royal Conservatory of Music Speech arts and Drama Syllabus where you will find:

- a graded syllabus of study for speech arts including poetry, prose, plays, mime, improvisation, etc., with hints of how to do those things all laid out in a way that is easy to understand
- A resource list of text books useful to becoming a teacher of speech arts, books of poetry and plays, books about vocal production, public speaking, etc.
- Stated goals for each level of study, which progress logically between grades.
- Easy to read, easy to understand, very useful information
